PLEASE DRIVE SAFELY

Speed Limit — The speed limit is 65 mph on rural sections of Kentucky's interstates and on most parkways.

Seat Belts — Kentucky does not have a seat belt law; Lexington-Fayette County and the city of Louisville do.

Child Restraints — A Kentucky law requires that all children 40 inches tall or less must be placed in a federally approved child restraint seat when traveling in an automobile.

Motorcycles — No person shall operate or ride as a passenger on a motorcycle unless that person wears approved protective headgear and eye protection.

Turning — Kentucky has a permissive "right turn on red" law, unless a sign forbidding such turns is posted at the intersection.

Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol — Our goal in Kentucky is to save lives, not to arrest and penalize people. If you are convicted of D.U.I. for the first time you will receive a 90 day license suspension. You will be fined a minimum of $200 (maximum $500) and could be imprisoned for no more than 48 hours nor more than 30 days in jail or both. More stringent sanctions are applied for second and subsequent convictions. Don't drink and drive.

Accidents — If you are involved in an accident, notify the nearest state police post or use the emergency number listed below. Accidents involving personal injury or property damage of $500 or more, not investigated by a law enforcement agency, must be reported by the individual within 10 days to the Justice Cabinet on an official form which may be obtained from any police department or state police officer.

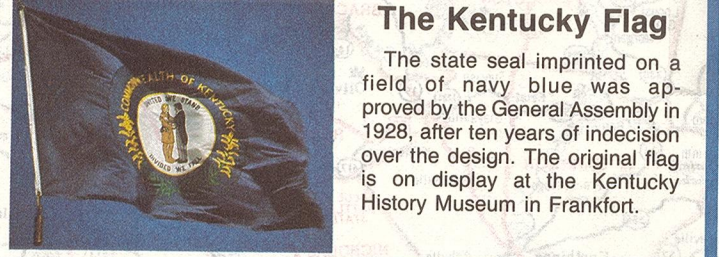

Emergency Toll Free Number — Call 1-800-222-5555 to report accidents, crimes or drunk drivers. Kentucky troopers stand ready to assist you at any time.

Kentucky is known as the "Bluegrass State" because of the abundant growth of bluegrass on its rich limestone soil. No one really knows where Kentucky bluegrass originated, but reports say that early pioneers found it growing in the state when they crossed the Allegheny Mountains. Traders began to ask for the seed of the "blue grass from Kentucky" and the name stuck. Bluegrass is not really blue — it's green. But in the spring, bluegrass produces bluish-purple buds that, when seen in large fields, give a rich blue cast to the grass.

The Kentucky Flag

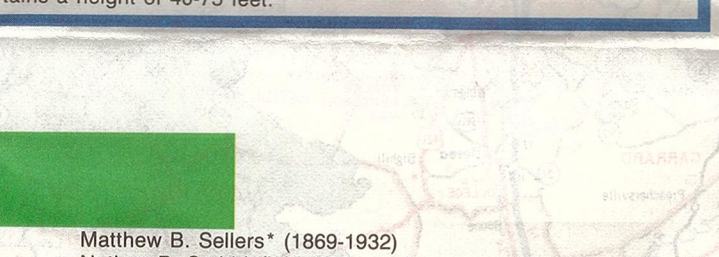

The state seal imprinted on a field of navy blue was approved by the General Assembly in 1928, after ten years of indecision over the design. The original flag is on display at the Kentucky History Museum in Frankfort.

Goldenrod

State Flower

The golden plumes of this wildflower line the roadsides in autumn, adding to Kentucky's spectacular display of fall color every year. Native to all of Kentucky, 30 of nearly 100 species of this weedy herb are found here.

The Kentucky Cardinal

State Bird

Kentucky's fields and woods ring year-round with the pleasant melodies of this red-crowned song bird. The male cardinal boasts a vivid red plumage, while the female is a light brown with red highlights.

The Kentucky Coffee Tree

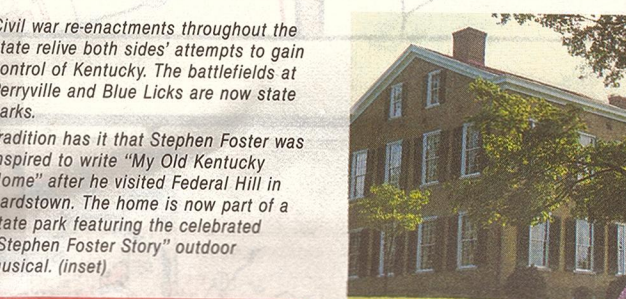

State Tree

Important to the pioneers, the seeds of this shaggy-barked tree produced an acceptable substitute for coffee when that commodity was in short supply. The Kentucky coffee tree lives for 40-50 years and attains a height of 40-75 feet.

HISTORY

Kentucky's colorful past, which helped shape the character of our nation, is preserved at many exciting sites, museums and events throughout the state. In Hodgenville you can visit the site where Abraham Lincoln was born, and in Lexington, see the children's home of his wife, Mary Todd. Only a hundred miles away, in Fairview, is the birthplace of Jefferson Davis, who became Lincoln's primary adversary as President of the Confederacy during the Civil War.

You can tour the historic buildings of the state's capital in Frankfort, walk across a Civil War battlefield at Perryville, and visit the reconstructed square in Danville where Kentucky's constitution was framed. Take time to see My Old Kentucky Home in Bardstown and experience the peace and tranquility of Shaker Village of Pleasant Hill. Retrace Daniel Boone's path through the Cumberland Gap, and reflect on the hardships of pioneer life at Fort Boonesborough in Richmond and Old Fort Harrod in Harrodsburg. For a complete listing of Kentucky's historic sites and attractions, call or write for your free Traveller's Guide to Kentucky.

Civil war reenactments throughout the state revive both sides' attempts to gain control of Kentucky. The battlefields at Perryville and Blue Licks are now state parks.

Tradition has it that Stephen Foster was inspired to write "My Old Kentucky Home" after he visited Federal Hill in Bardstown. The home is now part of a state park featuring the celebrated "Stephen Foster Story" outdoor musical (inset).

The unique Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington showcases the state's proud tradition as the horse capital of the world. The park features 35 horse breeds, equestrian museums, events and camping.
